Dear New Yorkers,

State, county and local governments, community organizations and advocacy groups are working hard to maximize participation in the 2020 Census. A complete count—including harder-to-reach and under-counted constituencies—will help ensure New York receives the resources our state needs to thrive. That is why it is extremely important for every person to respond to the census with complete and accurate information.

Knowing more about the census, as well as what questions will and will not be asked can not only empower you to stand up and be counted, but also can help you avoid becoming the victim of a scammer posing as a government official to trick or scare you into giving them your personal information.

I am deeply committed to ensuring that New Yorkers are fully and accurately accounted for in the 2020 Census. You can reach out to the Office of the Attorney General with any questions about the census questionnaire or process by calling (212) 416-8250, or emailing civil.rights@ag.ny.gov

Sincerely,

Letitia James

Attorney General
of New York
