Application Deadline is April 25, 2025

The Office of the New York State Attorney General (OAG) is seeking experienced litigators to serve as Assistant Attorneys General in the Litigation Bureau (New York City office).

The bureau represents and defends the state of New York and its agencies, officials, and employees in civil actions and proceedings in federal and state courts involving a range of subject areas arising out of state legislation, regulations, and operations. The bureau's cases are often high profile, frequently present complex questions of constitutional law and statutory and regulatory interpretation, and generally have significant policy and financial implications for the state.

The bureau's attorneys are assigned to a section within one of three (3) practice groups (please see below for additional details), which are organized according to specific client agency groupings. Across these practice groups, the bureau's attorneys are generalists who handle a wide variety of cases and substantive issues including constitutional challenges to statutes and regulations; labor and employment litigation emanating from their client agencies' role as employers; challenges to administrative decisions and determinations made by their client agencies; and civil rights litigation, such as First Amendment retaliation, Fourth Amendment excessive force, and Fourteenth Amendment due process claims. The bureau offers a diverse and stimulating litigation practice with attorneys handling all phases of litigation from inception through trial and having frequent opportunities to appear in court. This role also offers a unique balance of both independent and collaborative work, wherein attorneys generally manage their own cases, including development of case strategy, drafting briefs, and making arguments, while at the same time being supported by a team of litigators that prioritizes cooperation, professional development, and teamwork. This position provides an excellent opportunity for both experienced and newer attorneys to continue developing their litigation and trial skills.
