

Data Year

New York Executive Law Section 70-b (Section 70-b) requires the New York Attorney General's Office of Special Investigation (OSI) to issue an Annual Report every year on October 1. Therefore, OSI uses a "data year" covering the 12-month period from September 1 through August 31 to allow 30 days to collate and analyze the data for the Annual Report. These tables therefore use a data year ending August 31.

Explanation of Terms

Under Section 70-b, OSI has investigative authority and criminal jurisdiction when an officer, as defined, has caused a death, or when there is a question whether an officer has caused a death. When OSI is notified of an incident it is not always clear whether these three elements – a death, a defined officer, and causation – are present.

Regarding the first element, a death, there are times OSI receives a notification about a person believed to be "likely" to die. If the person does not die, OSI will close the case when it becomes clear that the person is going to survive. In the tables, these cases are noted as closed, "no death."

Regarding the second element, a defined officer, there are times when OSI receives a notification involving an officer mistakenly believed to be a police officer or a peace officer as defined in Section 70-b. In the tables, these cases are noted as closed, "no defined officer."

Most notifications received by OSI clearly involve a death and a defined officer. When the third element – causation – is not initially clear, OSI calls its investigations "preliminary assessments," though they often take months to complete. At the end of the assessment, OSI may conclude that it does not find reason to believe that an officer caused the death. In the tables, these cases are noted as closed, "officer did not cause death."

Many preliminary assessments remain open. In the tables, these cases are noted as open, "pending preliminary assessment."

When OSI determines that a defined officer has caused a death it pursues a full investigation to determine whether there was criminal conduct. At the conclusion of a full investigation Section 70-b requires that OSI either: (a) present evidence to a grand jury and obtain an indictment, or (b) issue a public report detailing the investigation and its results, explaining why OSI did not present evidence to a grand jury. (OSI must also issue a public report if it presents evidence to a grand jury and the grand jury does not return an indictment.) When OSI issues a public report, the tables indicate the case is closed, "report issued." If OSI obtains an indictment, the tables indicate the case is closed, "indictment issued." Many investigations remain open. In the tables, these cases are noted as open, "pending investigation."
