RE: Auctions

As we discussed at last week's meeting, many sponsors are considering auctioning condo or coop units probably because the market is presently so poor. They are questioning what if anything must be done in order to satisfy Martin Act requirements.

The following disclosures should be required to be made in a duly filed amendment to the plan in order to satisfy disclosure mandates of the statute:

(1) All prospective bidders will have at least three business days to review the plan before taking part in the auction. In the alternative, they will have seven days to rescind after a successful bid (an option I doubt many sponsors will choose).

(2) The procedure for obtaining an offering plan and to register to take part in the auction must be fully described.

(3) The date, time and place for the auction must be stated.

(4) The auction procedure must be fully disclosed, i.e., whether there are minimum bids; which units are being auctioned; whether the highest bid must be accepted; whether the auction is "with reserve" (auctioneer may withdraw the "goods" at any time until he announces completion of the sale) or "without reserve" (after the auctioneer calls for bids on an article or lot, that article or lot cannot be withdrawn unless no bid is made within a reasonable time).

(5) The plan must reflect the highest price for the units to be auctioned, so that proper fees will be collected.

I am attaching relevant statutes* dealing with auctions and prizes generally. You can refer attorneys to these statutes for their information although they are not directly relevant to our disclosure requirements. The Consumer Frauds Bureau handles auction complaints.

An auctioneer in any county, other than New York or Kings, shall not, without a previous agreement in writing, with the owner or consignee of the goods sold, demand or receive a greater compensation for his services than a commission of two and one-half per centum on the amount of any sale, public or private, made by him.

1. Construction with other laws

The provision of New York City Ad. ministrative Code that auctioneers in sales on behalf of sheriff of such city shall be entitled to commissions not exceeding customary market rate of auctioneers' fees for similar services limits fee of such auctioneer in Bronx county to 2 1/2 percent of sale price under this section, in absence of written agreement between parties for payment of larger commission. Di Palma v. Carraro, 1943, 180 Misc. 998, 45 N.Y.S.2d 206.

2. Additional compensation

Where defendant, an auctioneer, advanced to plaintiff $5,000 on certain stock and fixtures, and agreed to sell them at auction, guaranteeing them to bring at least $6,000, the proceeds over the sum of $5,500 to be divided between them equally, and the goods were sold for $6,201, whereupon defendant tendered plaintiff one-half of the proceeds over $5,500, the contract was not a sale of the goods to defendant, but an agreement by him to sell the goods for plaintiff on commission, and plaintiff was entitled to the $5,500 absolutely, and in addition thereto one-half of the proceeds over that sum. Caesar Misch Incorporation v. Moshelm, 1908, 123 App.Div. 322, 107 N.Y.S. 1092.

For services not within the scope of his employment as an auctioneer, he may be entitled to receive additional compensation. Russell v. Miner, 1872, 61 Barb. 534.

3. Expenses

The Revised Statutes did not prohibit an allowance to an auctioneer of actual expenses in addition to the statutory commission. Russell v. Miner, 1881, 25 Hun 114.

4. Quantum meruit

If the sale was stopped by the owner, the auctioneer could recover the reasonable value of his services, not to exceed,

§ 23. Automobile auctioneer

1. Definitions. The term "automobile auctioneer" as used in this section means any person, not claiming title in himself, who sells or offers for retail sale more than five motor vehicles, motorcycles or trailers in any calendar year, or who displays or permits the display of three or more motor vehicles, motorcycles or trailers for retail sale in any one calendar month upon premises owned or controlled by him.

2. Title. An automobile auctioneer shall not sell a motor vehicle unless he has in his possession the currently valid certificate of title to that motor vehicle, or, if a certificate of title is not required, then he shall have in his possession the appropriate proof of ownership for such motor vehicle. Title or proof of ownership shall be delivered to the purchaser immediately upon acceptance of tender of payment.

3. Disclosure. No motor vehicle shall be sold by an automobile auctioneer unless he has disclosed the identity of the individual who is actually transferring title or proof of ownership.

4. Warranties. a. Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, in any contract of sale by an automobile auctioneer, there shall be a warranty that:

(1) the title or proof of ownership conveyed shall be good, and its transfer rightful; and

(2) the goods shall be delivered free from any security interest or other lien or encumbrance of which the buyer at the time of contracting has no knowledge.

b. Any waiver of the warranty provided for in paragraph a of this subdivision by a buyer shall be deemed contrary to public policy and shall be void and unenforceable. Any attempt by an automobile auctioneer to exclude or modify such warranties shall constitute a violation of this section.

5. Documentation of transactions. In addition to the records required to be kept by auctioneers pursuant to section twenty-five of this article, every sale by an automobile auctioneer shall be accompanied by an itemized receipt which shall contain the following information:

- a. legal name, and trade name if different, of the automobile auctioneer;
- b. address and telephone number of the automobile auctioneer;
- c. name of the buyer;
- d. make, year of manufacture, and identification number of said motor vehicle;
- e. the amount of money paid; and
- f. the date of delivery.

6. Certificate of prior use by automobile auctioneer. Upon the sale of any second-hand passenger motor vehicle, the automobile auctioneer shall execute and deliver to the buyer an instrument in writing which shall set forth the nature of the principal prior use of such vehicle when the automobile auctioneer knows or has reason to know that such use was as a taxicab, police vehicle, or driver education vehicle, or vehicle which has been repurchased pursuant to either section one hundred ninety-eight-a or one hundred ninety-eight-b of this chapter, a similar statute of another state, or an arbitration or alternative dispute procedure.

7. Fraudulent representation. No automobile auctioneer, sales person employed by such auctioneer, or agent or representative thereof selling or offering for sale any motor vehicle, motorcycle, or trailer shall make or use any untrue or misleading representations nor engage, directly or indirectly, in any act or practice or course of business which operates or would operate as a fraud or deception upon any person.

8. Exceptions. The provisions of this section shall not apply to an auction or auctions at which only vehicles which are being sold pursuant to repossession, or foreclosure of a lien, or by or on behalf of an executor or administrator to settle an estate, or pursuant to a court order, or at an auction at which bids are accepted only from registered motor vehicle dealers, registered vehicle dismantlers or certified scrap processors. Vehicles sold at such an auction shall not be included in determining the number of vehicles sold at auction for the purpose of determining whether a person is an auctioneer.

9. Action by the attorney general. a. Upon any violation of this section, an application may be made by the attorney general in the name of the people of the state of New York to a court or justice having jurisdiction to issue an injunction, and upon notice to the defendant of not less than five days, to enjoin and restrain the continuance of the violation. If it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court or justice that the defendant has violated this section, an injunction may be issued by the court or justice, enjoining and restraining any further violation, without requiring proof that any person has, in fact, been injured or damaged thereby. In any such proceeding, the court may make allowances to the attorney general as provided in paragraph six of subdivision (a) of section eighty-three hundred three of the civil practice law and rules, and direct restitution.

b. Whenever the court shall determine that a violation of this section has occurred, it may impose a civil penalty of not more than one thousand dollars for each violation. In connection with an application made under this subdivision, the attorney general is authorized to take proof and to make a determination of the relevant facts and to issue subpoenas in accordance with the civil practice law and rules.

10. Additional remedies. In addition to the right of action granted to the attorney general pursuant to subdivision nine of this section, any buyer injured by a violation of this section may bring an action in his own name to enjoin such unlawful practice, an action to recover his actual damages or five hundred dollars, whichever is greater, or both such actions. The court in its discretion may increase the award of damages to an amount not to exceed three times the actual damages. The court may award costs and reasonable attorney's fees to a prevailing plaintiff.

11. Burden of proof. In any proceeding involving this section, the burden of proving an exception or inapplicability for the definition of automobile auctioneer is upon the person claiming it.

12. Severability clause. If any provision of this section or if any application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the section and the application of the provision to other persons and circumstances shall not be affected thereby. (Added L.1987, c. 170, § 1.)

§ 2-328 Sale by Auction

(1) In a sale by auction if goods are put up in lots each lot is the subject of a separate sale.

(2) A sale by auction is complete when the auctioneer so announces by the fall of the hammer or in other customary manner. Where a bid is made while the hammer is falling in acceptance of a prior bid the auctioneer may in his discretion reopen the bidding or declare the goods sold under the bid on which the hammer was falling.

(3) Such a sale is with reserve unless the goods are in explicit terms put up without reserve. In an auction with reserve the auctioneer may withdraw the goods at any time until he announces completion of the sale. In an auction without reserve, after the auctioneer calls for bids on an article or lot, that article or lot cannot be withdrawn unless no bid is made within a reasonable time. In either case a bidder may retract his bid until the auctioneer's announcement of completion of the sale, but a bidder's retraction does not revive any previous bid.

(4) If the auctioneer knowingly receives a bid on the seller's behalf or the seller makes or procures such a bid, and notice has not been given that liberty for such bidding is reserved, the buyer may at his option avoid the sale or take the goods at the price of the last good faith bid prior to the completion of the sale. This subsection shall not apply to any bid at a forced sale.

ART 2

PRIOR COMPARATIVE LAW:

Pers PL § 102, and cases cited thereto.

UNIFORM LAWS COMMENT:

Prior Uniform Statutory Provision: Section 21, Uniform Sales Act.

Changes:

Completely rewritten.

Purposes of Changes:

To make it clear that:

1. The auctioneer may in his discretion either reopen the bidding or close the sale on the bid on which the hammer was falling when a bid is made at that moment. The recognition of a bid of this kind by the auctioneer in his discretion does not mean a closing in favor of such a bidder, but only that the bid has been accepted as a continuation of the bidding. If recognized, such a bid discharges the bid on which the hammer was falling when it was made.

2. An auction "with reserve" is the normal procedure. The crucial point, however, for determining the nature of an auction is the "putting up" of the goods. This Article accepts the view that the goods may be withdrawn before they are actually "put up," regardless of whether the auction is advertised as one without reserve, without liability on the part of the auction announcer to persons who are present. This is subject to any peculiar facts which might bring the case within the "firm offer" principle of this Article, but an offer to persons generally would require unmistakable language in Order to fall within that section. The prior announcement of the nature of the auction either as with reserve or without reserve will, however, enter as an "explicit term" in the "putting up" of the goods and conduct thereafter must be governed accordingly. The present section continues the prior rule permitting withdrawal of bids in auctions both with and without reserve, and the rule is made explicit that the retraction of a bid does not revive a prior bid.

NEW YORK ANNOTATIONS:

(1) Sale in lots. Accord with Personal Property Law, § 102(1).

(2) When sale complete. The first sentence of this subsection follows Personal Property Law, § 102(2). The provision made in the second sentence in connection with bids made while the hammer is falling is new, and no cases were found on the point.

(3) "With reserve." Subsection (3) also follows Personal Property Law, § 102(2) in presuming that auction sales are "with reserve" unless explicitly announced to be "without reserve". Comment 2 indicates that the "crucial point" is the "putting up" of the goods, and this accords with Benjamin v First Citizens Bank & Trust Co. of Utica, 248 App Div 610, 287 NYS 947 (1936) (Goods may be withdrawn before bidding even where sale advertised as "without reserve"). The rule on the bidder's power to retract his bid even in an auction "without reserve" also follows Personal Property Law, § 102(2).

(4) Bids by seller. Subsection (4) follows Personal Property Law, § 102(4), in permitting the buyer to avoid an auction sale at which the seller or his agent bid and where no notice of such a right to bid was given at the sale. Cf. United Industrial Syndicate, Inc. v Actna Industrial Corp. (1950, Supp) 99 NYS2d 375 (although no "annoucement" was made, sale was not voidable since failure to state right was inadvertent and everyone present knew that owners were bidding).

The Code adds a new right in the buyer at such a sale to take the goods at the last good faith bid prior to the completion of the sale. Note that the Code also newly excepts from the entire subsection bids at a "forced sale," which is not otherwise defined. See Drew v John Deere, 19 AD2d 308, 241 NYS2d 267 (1965).

Historical Note:

Subsections (3) and (4) were revised at the suggestion of the Law Revision Commission. The changes in subsection (3) incorporate the rule stated in Comment 2, that the seller may withdraw the goods even after announcing an auction without reserve until the goods are "put up"; they also restore the rule of the Uniform Sales Act that a bidder may retract his bid before the hammer falls even in an auction without reserve. The changes in subsection (4) clarified the prohibition on seller bidding. (1956 Recommendations, p. 49; Excerpts, p. 380).

CASE NOTES

An auction with reserve is the normal procedure. Drew v John Deere Co. (1963, 4th Dep't) 19 AD2d 308, 241 NYS2d 267, 2 UCCRS 519.

A statement that the goods would be sold to the highest bidder is not the equivalent of a sale without reserve, and is nothing more than an announcement that a person will sell his property at an auction at which bids will be received. Drew v John Deere Co. (1963, 4th Dep't) 19 AD2d 308, 241 NYS2d 267, 2 UCCRS 519.

If an auction sale is with reserve the seller may purchase and hence the person making the next highest bid cannot contend that the seller is disqualified and such disqualification makes him the highest bidder whose bid must be accepted. Drew v John Deere Co. (1963, 4th Dep't) 19 AD2d 308, 241 NYS2d 267, 2 UCCRS 519.

Nothing in the Uniform Commercial Code (see UCC §§ 2-328(1) and 2-307) gives an auctioneer the right to condition delivery of one lot of goods sold at an auction sale on the payment of all lots

The Code continues the prior law under which property sold at an auction sale passes to the bidder and the sale is complete when the property is knocked down to the bidder. Diefenbach v Gorney (1968) 93 Ill App 2d 51, 234 NE2d 313, 5 UCCRS 491.

In an auction sale, particularly of farm crops, a tender of delivery of the goods is not a condition precedent to the obligation to pay. Diefenbach v Gorney (1968) 93 Ill App 2d 51, 234 NE2d 813, 5 UCCRS 491.

Municipal ordinance requiring auctioneer to refund in full purchase price when demand is made within 72 hours after purchase, provided purchaser returns article or merchandise to place of purchase in same condition as when purchased did not conflict with UCC § 2-328 which was intended to resolve finality of auction sale question, as between parties involved, when bid is made while hammer is falling. B. Jeselson, Inc. v Atlantic City (1976) 70 NJ 238, 358 A2d 797, 19 UCCRS 497.

The auctioneer is merely the agent of the parties and is not the buyer with respect to the original seller, nor the seller with respect to the ultimate buyer. Tulsa Auto Dealers Auction v North Side State Bank (1966, Okla) 431 P2d 408.

The fact that the auctioneer has the right to commissions in the sale made by him does not give him any proprietary interest in the goods themselves so as to give him a standing superior to a creditor who has a security interest in the goods.

§ 2-401. Passing of Title; Reservation for Security; Limited Application of This Section

Each provision of this Article with regard to the rights, obligations and remedies of the seller, the buyer, purchasers or other third parties applies irrespective of title to the goods except where the provision refers to such title. Insofar as situations are not covered by the other provisions of this Article and matters concerning title become material the following rules apply:

- (1) Title to goods cannot pass under a contract for sale prior to their identification to the contract (Section 2-501), and unless otherwise explicitly agreed the buyer acquires by their identification a special property as limited by this Act. Any retention or reservation by the seller of the title (property) in goods shipped or delivered to the buyer is limited in effect to a reservation of a security interest. Subject to these provisions and to the
